Munyon's WITCH Soap

It makes the hair grow thick It makes the hair grow strong It makes the hair grow beautiful

Munyon's Witch Harel Scap is truly a blessing to those who are losing their hair and becoming bald. This soap is a food and vitalizer; it stimulates and acts as a gentle tonic to the weak and sick roots, and gives them new life and vigor. It promptly removes dandruff, scales, humors and all sores of the scalp. Don't use any more hair tonics or decoctions that are advertised to make hair grow on bald heads. Give this soap a fair trial, and if there is a particle of life in the roots, this soap will stimulate and invigorate them into new life and healthy growth. Of course, you know that Munyon's Witch Hasel Soap for the complexion and for the toilet is superior to any high-priced French soap made. It makes the skin soft as velvet, and keeps one free from pimples, blotches and most skin eruptions.

most skin eruptions.

If your blood is out of order, take Munyon's Blood Cure. It will drive all impurities from the system and make good, rich, red blood.

If your liver is sluggish and you have a sallow complexion, use Munyon's Liver Cure. These two remedies taken in alternation, will soon rid the blood and system of all impurities, and give life and vigor to the whole body, and, when used in confunction with the soap, makes the skin glow with youthful freshness.

HAVE made the curing of men who are Vitally Weak my life's study, and, until within the last year or so I had never been able to find a restorative which would do the work and I had to content myself with "patching-up" men with the old lines of treatment laid down in the medical books and which treatments are being used by so-called specialists of to-day in vain attempts to partially relieve this weakness. to pay the dollar, therefore I have decided to answer no letter unless the dollar accompanies it.

This is no C. O. D. fraud, like you will find most seemingly liberal offers are. I send nothing C. O. D.

Bear in mind that the Sir John Hampton Vital Restorative is my own discovery and that it is not sold in drug stores nor by agents. It is entirely different from any remedy in appearance and action you have ever seen. I learn that there are already "substitutes" in the field. Every successful man's methods are imitated, just as spurious concections closely follow in the wake of remedies that cure.

Men who are suffering with a Loss of Physical Power, Nervo-Vital Debility, Varicocele, Wasting, Non-Development, Drains and Kindred Aliments are the only men whom I want to write for the one-dollar treatment, for the Sir John Hampton Vital Restorative is not a "cure-all," but is an ABSOLUTE and POSITIVE cure for the aliments which I claim it will cure. Of course if one of my patients is suffering with other aliments in conjunction with these weaknesses, I will then prescribe for him, but will not charge him a cent for so doing.

You can scarcely dcubt that I have a cure for you when you read the accompanying affidavit, and as I may withdraw this one-dollar offer soon, avail yourself of it at once and give the Sir John Hampton Vital Restorative a trial, and you will live to bless the day that you read of this treatment. You may send the dollar in stamps, a dollar bill or postal order made payable to M. E. Alicine, treasurer. My book, "The Travels and Researches of a Renowned Physician," sent free, postpaid, to all who write for treatment. Write to-day. #### HE WANTS DIVORCE FROM INDIAN SQUAW.

Wealthy Godfrey H. Harris Thought He Was Marrying a Jewess.

MAKES SENSATIONAL CHARGES.

Came Upon His Wife's Indian Kinsfolk by Accident and Learned the Truth-A New York Social Scandal.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL Buffalo, N. Y., May 2.—Godfrey H. Harris, the wealthy manufacturer of New York City, who was recently discovered to have married an Indian squaw, believing her to be a Hebrew, has brought a suit for di-vorce, making sensational charges against prominent persons in this part of the State. The suit was secretly instituted, and Mr. Harris and his attorneys are not aware that any of the facts concerning it are known outside of the court. The complaint, which makes charges against a prominent Republican legislator, a leader in his party; against a high official of a trunk line railread, and other well-known citizens, is accompanied by the reports of detectives placed on the trail of the child that Mrs. Harris sought to make her husband believe was his own.

The reports of the detectives show where the baby was procured, and the recital, as contained in the briefs on the side of the plaintiff, upfeld the story of a social scandal greater than ever before known in either Saratoga or Chautauqua counties, where the main incidents of the Harris case are laid.

It was made known only a week ago that Mr. Harris had married Mrs. Sarah Reeves. better known as Sarah Strunk, proprietor of the Saratoga Cottage at Lakewood, Lake Chautauqua; had discovered that she was a full-blooded Indian, and had left hor. It was also found that Mrs. Harris had recently presented her runaway husband with a son, according to her own account, and had made a demand upon him for extra funds, because of the coming of the little one, and that Mr. Harris had repudiated the child and set on foot an investigation.

Mr. Harris met Mrs. Strunk two years ago, while on a visit to Lake Chautauqua, and immediately fell in love with her. Sae was a handsome widow, almost Oriental in her coloring, and Mr. Harris was made to believe, it is said, that she was of his own faith.

Mr. Harris made the fine-looking widow believe, it is said, that she was of his own faith.

Mr. Harris made the fine-looking widow his bride, the courtship being of the brief-est. The bridegroom soon had an awakening that cooled his love and caused him to fiee from his bride. The story is that while taking a walk one morning he stopped in the shop of an Indian basketmaker at Lake Chautauqua to make some purchases. There he saw a remarkably beautiful Indian girl, who so closely resembled his wife that he questioned her at length as to her antecedents and family.

To his astonishment and horror he learned that the Indian girl was the full sister of his wife, who was, therefore, an Indian squaw. He immediately returned to New York City, where he was followed a few weeks inter by his wife. With a destre to avoid publicity. Mr. Harris is said to have provided liberally for his wife, placing a fine apartment at her disposal, and giving her funds so that she was able to entertain in lavish style. The husband did not live with her and never disclosed the secret of her birth.

Mr. Harris is the Indian woman's third birth.

Mr. Harris is the Indian woman's third husband. After the death of her first husband, who was a California miner, she married Dwight Strunk, owner of the Lakeview Stock Farm, at Lakewood. She had been widowed several years when she met Mr. Harris. The secret of her Indian birth did not become generally known until the investigation made by the detectives employed by Mr. Harris was reported on.

LONE LOVELORN SQUAW WELCOMED WARRIOR COOK.

He Moved In and Tarried Seven Years Like Jacob of Old-Tribal Question Involved.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL Syracuse, N. Y., May 2-The spirit of Garangula, the great Onondaga Indian orator, must have hovered about Judge Ross's chamber in the afternoon.

Heap much red man was there, and there was heap much talk. It was the opening of the argument and the first proceeding to oust all Indians not Onondagans from the reservation. Everybody who had anything to say was asked to come in to say it. The rear seats looked like a treaty conference, and red, complexion and trimmings predominated. If it wasn't for the principle involved it might have been easy to decide Andrew Cook's case. He was the first one picked out to be removed, and the allegation was made that he wasn't en especially good Indian to keep around, although he did have a pretty Onondaga squaw for a wife. It was alleged that Cook loved heap lot fire

Jairus Pierce moved in the case, complaining at the white man's big wigwam at Albany. The matter was referred to Indian Agent Daniel Pinckney. As the matter would have to come before Judge Ross anyway, he just shifted the burden at once.

Mr. Pinckney said that it would be difficult to tell where the case would end because of the mixture of tribes. It was said 150 indians were involved, and there were intermarriages and what-not, mostly what-not, that were obstacles. Many of these Indians have built the homes in which they live. If there is a removal ordered, it is the Sheriff's duty to do it.

When the case was called there was Henri B. Clark present for the District Attorney's office. John Conway for Jairus Pierce and Superintendent of Indian Schools W. W. Newman for Mr. Cook. There was a lot of preliminary argument. Indian and otherwise. Cook denied the charges against him, and for him was raised points as to treaties, etc.

Mr. Newman objected to the remark in a Jairus Pierce moved in the case, com-wise. Cook denied the charges against him, and for him was raised points as to treaties, etc.

Mr. Newman objected to the remark in a newsaper written by an Onondaga, that he himself could even marry in Onondaga against. He said he was reminded of the bad Indian." who 1,500 years ago, took a certain person to a high hill and told him he would give him all if he would follow him. The Indian chiefs to-day were like that "bad Indian." they couldn't deliver the goods. The squaws would have something to say about it. Mr. Newman also nailed other assertions against his having property at the reservation. He showed a possessory title.

He then referred to the treaty of 1783 and said the chiefs themselves had violated this treaty. It was denied that Cook was an intruder or a felon. Mr. Newman had his points arranged in true lawyer-like fashion, only with more latitude. He said that if Cook was an intruder then God Almighty was an intruder, for he yearly intrudes bables on this reservation that are not Onondagas, and he should be represented in this proceeding.

In the Indian school there were seventeen families recresented that were Onondagas and forty-two that were not Onondagas, it was also uraced that only a majority of chiefs could make this petition, and as there were twenty-six on the reservation, it was questioned if fourteen had signed the petition.

were twenty-six on the feservation, it was questioned if fourteen had signed the petition.

Then Cook was sworn. He was a niceloking Indian, and spoke excellent English. He said he was a St. Regis Indian and was born at Hogansburg, Franklin County. He receives an annuity from the State. Cook said he was hired to a white man for 200 a month and didn't work on the reservation. He wasn't married to the squaw he lived with. She had the nouse.

"I found squaw, empty wiswam, I moved in!" admitted Cook. "I drink when I'm dry, about twice a month; I been there seven years; I been married, and she live at Sand Ridges now, that's all. I fight once with Indian, but not Onondaga, and I lick him. Mrs. Cook pro tem. offered to give evidence, as she was in court, but it was not taken. The matter was field open, so that the court could have more proof if he wished. He took the papers in the case, although he said he believed that a tribe should be free from trespassers. Many estimable Indians had settled on the lands and they ought not to be harrassed or disturbed, if there was any help for it.

other day in which a wealthy Englishman was seeking information concerning the opportunities for investing some of his good British sovereigns in California wheat lands.

"What language is spoken in Northern California?" read the postscript on the letter. Fischer slowly reached for his glasses, wiped them and settled them on the bridge of his nose. Then he read the query again. He looked for the date line; it was not April I. He pressed the button for the office boy.

"Boy, call in all the stuff of the office Say I have something important to speak with them about."

When the last clerk had arranged himself in the line before the chief, Manager Filcher took off his glasses and addressed them in a voice like that of the orator of a Decoration Day celebration.

"Gentlemen, I have received a communication from a subject of his Britannic Majesty, in which a question is asked me which is far beyond my humble power to answer. Gentlemen, you know that I have never vaunted myself, that I have never been puffed up with the feeling of my overwhelming knowledge, and yet, gentlemen, it is to me that this question is propounded, a question which makes the Sphinx look like six bits on a foggy morning. Gentlemen, I will give it to you—'What language is spoken in Northern California?"

There was a dread pause in the manager's office—you could hear the office boy shift his chew of tobacco from one cheek to the other.

"They all speak Missourian up in Siskiyou County," at last ventured the stenographer.

"Cornish and Irish only goes up along Grass Valley and the Mother Lode counties," added the head cierk.

"Well, when they are driving twenty mules in a combined harvester up in Yolo and Butte counties you could hardly say they spoke a language—it's just fragments, as it were," said the assistant clerk, who had worked on a ranch before he took to a stool and "thirty per" in the Board of Trade office.

"Digger and Siwash is the politic language in Inyo and Humboldt; Swedish and Dago along the coast, with Japanese and Chinese everywhere," meaned the manager. "How can we get a term which will be at all comprehensive."

Finally, after much mental travail on the part of the whole office staff, the Britisher was answered in the following:

"We can give only a general answer to this question, and even that must be subject to revision without notice. But we would say that in most of California, including parts of San Francisco, the aborigines have abandoned what might be

YOUNG WIFEHOOD

Boston, Mass., 152 Shawmut Ave., Oct. 25, 1932.

After I had been married about for months I felt my health generally decline. I seemed to lose the light step and dragged along wearily instead. My appetite failed me and I lost health and strength. I was nervous and had shooting pains through my limbs and stomach while bearing down pains and constant headsones added to my misery. The menstrual flow became more and more profuse and I was unfit to attend to my daily duties. My husband called in three different physicians and I took medicine enough to kill or core a dozen women, but it all had no effect on me whatever, until I took Wine of Cardul. In a few days I felt a change for the better, my general health improved and at the next time of my periods my flow was more natural and I was in less pain. Gradually I recovered my health and strength and am now in perfect health. I take an occasional doze of Wine of Cardul which keeps me well. I am happy to give you this endorsement.

Emps Butha Ricker Wine of Cardui brought Mrs. Ricker good health. That is why she has so much faith in it that she never is without Wine of Cardui in her house.

The first months following marriage are full of peril for the young wife and a dose of Wine of Cardui every day is a great reinforcement to her strength. Why don't you try for the same health Mrs. Ricker has? It is easy to secure if you take Wine of Cardui according to directions. Wine of Cardui strengthens weak and worn-out women of any age and assists the mother and housewife to bear her exacting duties. It is a great strain to give birth to children and to perform housework, but Wine of Cardui makes women fit for all the duties of womanhood.
